

■ Termination of clearing services for Powernext markets

Announcement

As already communicated by Powernext to its trading members in October 2008 and last Friday, the clearing of all French power contracts (Day-Ahead and Futures) will be transferred from LCH.Clearnet SA to European Commodity Clearing AG (ECC) on April 1st 2009 (under the condition that all members are ready and pending on regulatory approval). In order to ensure a transparent transition for its members, LCH.Clearnet SA has set up a dedicated project team which cooperates and coordinates the migration with Powernext.

The aim of this general information is to provide all necessary information to avoid disruptions in your operations during this migration.

All LCH.Clearnet SA clearers on Powernext markets will be impacted by this migration including those which would not have started their activities on Powernext.

- All Powernext Futures clearers, including those which would not have open positions recorded, will need to imperatively sign and return the document called "Deed of transfer".

Depending on your current membership situation as a clearer on Powernext[®] Day-Ahead and/or on Powernext[®] Futures, the process to terminate the Master agreement and/or the Admission Agreement and the relevant Operating rules, may slightly differ. The following details will help you in listing appropriate actions you may have to undertake depending on the Powernext markets on which you are registered.

We hereafter assume the last trading date for Powernext markets cleared by LCH.Clearnet SA being the 31st March 2009. The dates given in this document (in blue) should consequently be considered as open business days relative dates only compared to the 31st March 2009.

The official calendar will be confirmed at the beginning of next year.

A synthesis of all treasury flows and corresponding dates is to be found at the end of this document.

Termination of agreements with LCH.Clearnet SA

Individual clearers within LCH.Clearnet SA membership will not be ECC clearers then they shall have contractual relationship with an ECC clearer.

Common items for both Powernext[®] Day-Ahead & Powernext Futures clearers

Membership impacts

As of the 12th of January 2009, LCH.Clearnet SA will not be able to approve Powernext[®] Day-Ahead and Powernext Futures new clearers anymore (Black-window). Only demands (complete file) received before the 19th of December 2008 will be treated by the membership department for an effective launch before the end of January 2009.

Risks & Treasury impacts

- The last trading day is the day D (Tuesday 31st of March 2009 in our example) in month M (March),
- The last settlement day is the day D+1 (Wednesday 1st of April 2009) for Powernext[®] Day-Ahead.

In order to accelerate the treasury flow the clearers shall maintain their collateral in euros.

For the clearers using the services of a paying agent (PR/PDSE contract), it is preferable to maintain its use until the end of the migration process in order to cover potential flows between parties.

Specificities for Powernext[®] Day-Ahead clearers

Legal and Membership impacts

From the 1st January 2009, Powernext Day-Ahead will transfer its trading activities on Powernext Day-Ahead markets to the new European entity EPEX SPOT SE. Therefore, in the Master Agreement that had been signed between our two companies, any reference to Powernext shall be understood as referring to EPEX SPOT SE.

For the avoidance of doubt, all margin calls documents issued by LCH.Clearnet SA will still be issued with a reference to Powernext Day Ahead market and no modification will occur on these margin calls documents.

As a clearer of Powernext[®] Day-Ahead, authorized representatives of your company will have to send to LCH.Clearnet SA a termination notice of Powernext[®] Day Ahead Master Agreement (a template model of the letter is enclosed). The Membership termination will occur at the completion of all clearers' obligations.

The original copy of this termination notice needs to be duly signed and sent by mail to the LCH.Clearnet SA membership Department before the end of February 2009 at the latest.

In the process of migration of the open positions on Powernext[®] Futures, LCH.Clearnet SA commits to produce the file of the open positions to be transferred consistent with the open positions recorded in ECS clearing system. The integration of these open positions in the ECC clearing system is not under LCH.Clearnet SA responsibility.

- On D+2 (Thursday 2nd of April 2009, second open business day of M+1), LCH.Clearnet SA will transfer to ECC all the open positions

To ensure a safe handling of the position transfer, all clearers need to sign the document called "Deed of transfer" which organised the transfer of open positions between LCH.Clearnet SA, ECC, Powernext SA and the new "ECC clearer" for the individual clearer, if any.

A template model of this document will be provided shortly to all Powernext[®] Futures clearers (one related to individual clearer or one related to general clearer).

The clearing fund contribution can be refunded the fourth open business day following the end of the delivery period (Thursday 7th May 2009, fourth open business day of M+2) as the normal re-evaluation of the Clearing Fund dedicated to Powernext Futures.

At the time of the resignation of Powernext Futures by the clearer, another "statement of account" will be paid (Wednesday 3rd June 2009).

In order to facilitate the migration, a testing period will take place at least one month before the migration date (the testing period will be set out as soon as the migration date is determined by Powernext SA).
